Holy Cross Early Education Center

Dear Parents,

How quickly September passed! It is amazing to see how in one month's time, the children have all reached their comfort zone and have come to life, letting their little personalities' shine. I love to walk into the classrooms and see the intense looks on the faces of the children as they participate in listening to stories, singing songs, or concentrating on an art project. I see very busy classrooms with lots of learning going on!

We were so happy to have had such a good turn out for our Meet & Greet night. All the teachers enjoyed visiting with the parents and watching the children show off their classrooms. Our book fair was also very busy! Thanks to all families who supported our school by buying books!

We have been having a few plumbing problems in our new bathrooms. Today, we have a plumber putting a camera in the pipes to find the source of the problem. Thanks to the parents for understanding our afternoon school closing on Sept. 18th due to the plumbing issue.

October will be a busy month so be sure and mark our activities down on your calendar!

Quotes of the month

The teachers thought it would be fun to publish some of the things the kids say that make us smile. Here are some of our favorites we heard this month.

- 4 year old girl says after reading the book I'm in Charge of Me, "My dad says I'm NOT in charge."
- 4 year old boy to the plumber, "You've been to my house before!"
- 4 year old boy with hair spiked with gel to the teacher, "Do you want to feel my needles?"
- 3 year old boy discovers the dad clothes and shoes in the dress up center. He stomps over to another boy, with his big dad shoes and dad clothes on and says, "Now listen here, son!"
- 4 year old girl was singing a song about God at home and told her mom she learned it at school. Her mom asked if she was
